SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

ONE BACKWARD LOOK

The graduating class of 1937, with hopes high and faces forward, enters into the portals of the future. But as we shoulder arms and begin the long march which has no end we do an about face, and sadly, with wistful eyes, we look behind us. We see four years of smiles and tears, joys and disappointments, war and peace. There are hundreds of opportunities not taken, legions of good deeds undone and kind words unsaid. Fortunately the bad things soon fade away in the sands of the distant past, but the good things stand out like shining landmarks that give life meaning, and make living worthwhile. All of us are thankful for these four years, for the transformation of time, and the memories that linger still. The harsh voice of the quarterback barking signals in the golden dusk of the gathering twilight, the cool fountain by the tennis courts, the picnics at Horn Springs and Hunters Point, the cap and gown parade, the friends who have carved for themselves an enduring niche in our hearts; these things will not die. They will go down with us through the years.

Our social, political, and economic history has recorded no great accomplishments. Politically we have always been active. We have never been surpassed in the arts of log rolling, electioneering, maneuvering and campaigning. Had we not opposed him, Governor Landon might have—but what is done is done. Oliver Bradley was our first president, the first of a long line of distinguished men. He never completed his term of office, and Mike Gialanella served in his stead, a bulwark of substantial integrity amidst much pushing and heaving. What we did that year is not clear in our minds, for it was a long time ago, when we wore green ties and suede shoes.

In our Sophomore year Conway Jennings twirled the watch chain of presidential dignity. Conway held the fort, withstood repeated assaults, and managed to serve out his term. If we did anything of note that year it has not been recorded.

In our Junior year R. A. Sanders burst into the limelight like a bolt from the blue, and we retaliated by electing him president. Like Louis Philippe he kept an ear to the ground, made himself solid with the people, and managed to conciliate all factions. This year, under the leadership of President Clifford Sargent, we have tried to redeem ourselves in the public eye, to contribute our bit to the welfare of the school we love, and the people who have caused us to love it. The contribution of service is an unfinished task, and we leave it with confidence to the class of '38.

With a lump in our throats and a tightening around our hearts that is none the less sincere because other people have felt that way before, and said so, we face again to the future.

Caps and gowns! Degrees and graduation presents! Boots and saddles! Farewell to arms!

JUNE LAW CLASS HISTORY

Among the hundreds of similar institutions scattered throughout the length and breadth of the American continent, it is no mean accomplishment to be able to boast that the Law School of Cumberland University has a record of accomplishment, and service to the nation unparalleled by any other law school in the United States. Since the time of its founding over three quarters of a century ago it has given to this country, and to the south in particular, some of its greatest leaders not only in the legal profession, but in the realms of statescraft and industry as well.

From the portals of this venerable institution came Howell E. Jackson and Horace H. Lurton, two of the most illustrious members ever to occupy positions upon the Supreme Court of the United States. Joseph Weldon Bailey, whom the brilliant Spooner of Wisconsin once termed "the greatest constitutional lawyer since Daniel Webster," was a graduate of this school, as is also Cordell Hull, who is rapidly acquiring for himself the reputation of being the greatest Secretary of State since James Monroe.

On Tuesday, September 11, the class, under the direction of Judge Samuel B. Gilreath, began the study of Abraham Carruthers "History of the Lawsuit," one of the monumental classics of all legal literature, and written by one of the first Professors of Law at Cumberland University.

An election of class officers was held, and after a warm, but friendly, contest the following officials were chosen: George J. Schweizer, Jr., President; Jerry Roe, Vice President; John Lewin, Secretary; John R. Rice, Treasurer; and A. R. Elliott, Reporter. George Merrifield, Jr., Joe Hensley, Jr., and Charles Green were selected as Student Councilmen.

In November of 1936 the class had a change of instructors, meeting for the first time with Judge A. B. Neil, a man who in every respect is the full embodiment of Bunyan's "magnanimous man," and one of whom it might be spoken as a great historian wrote of Charles James Fox "to hear him was to admire him, but to know him was to love him."

In March 1937 a new election of class officers was held, Glen Pace being elected President; Tom Moore, Vice President; Robert Abel, Treasurer; Doris Mitchell, Secretary; George Merrifield, Jr., Class Orator; Guy Horton, Historian; Fountain Dawson, Shyster; Clarence E. Olschner, Chaplain; and Ollie Bright, Reporter. To the new Student Council were chosen: H. T. Carter, W. O. Shaffer, and J. T. Caldwell. At a subsequent class election Miss Mabel Loughlin was elected "Miss Law School," while Noel Riley was selected as the "Bachelor of Ugliness."

On June 2, the law class of 1937 will be history. Whether among its ranks there will be found future jurists, United States Senators, and Cabinet Officials is altogether a matter of speculation. Of one thing, however, we may be sure, that out of the almost one hundred and fifty students who compose its membership, not one but will regard his Alma Mater with sentiments of love and the most profound respect, and to the end of his days will take undying pride in the knowledge that he forms some part, however small, in one of the grandest traditions in American education.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

That we would ever be Juniors seemed an impossibility three years ago; but Juniors we became, and now, as we stand on the threshold of our Senior year, we find ourselves reviewing our record with a great deal of happiness.

Ours is a large class, and you will find our students working in every activity on the campus. We remember such names as Donnell, Lemons, McCullouch, Gordon, and Bryan for their scholastic ability, and find these to be consistent members of the honor roll. Brettell, Gordon, and Mangum are "C" men, and will be active on the various varsity squads next year. Frances Nicholson, this year's choice for Cumberland's Most Beautiful Girl, was taken from our ranks, and we are justly proud.

Meeting early in the school year we nominated and elected our school officers. Harry Vickers was chosen as President, and on his withdrawal from school at the second semester, Allan Gordon was elected to succeed him.

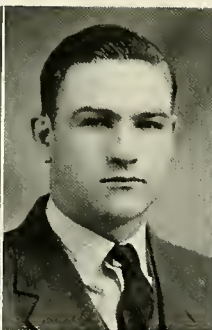

Realizing our duties and responsibilities as we accept the torch from the present Senior Class, we are determined to remember Cumberland's traditions and what they mean to every student of the University and to make our last year at C. U. the best.

JUNIOR CLASS

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Last year we were the largest class in school with about 75 members. However, this year we are no longer green Freshmen but are dignified Sophomores. While our class isn't as large as it was last year, those returning this year were evidently the pick of the crop.

For our President this year we elected diminutive Charles Gist who is one of the most outstanding leaders in all school activities. Other officers are: Mary Craig, Vice President; Emily Baird, Treasurer; and Volene Thompson, Secretary.

Our class has been very prominent in all social activities, having given a dance for the Freshman class, which was one of the most outstanding events of the year.

Our class is represented on the Student Council by Murrell Weddington, Clair Eoff and Charles Gist.

In athletics the class was represented by Ed Smith and Casper Freeman in basketball; Joe Carter, Bud O'Guinn, and Murrell Weddington, in football; Harmon Byrom and Bud O'Guinn in baseball, and Ernest Stockton was number one man on the tennis team. Both boys and girls were well represented in Intra-Mural basketball and Harmon Byrom won the ping-pong championship.

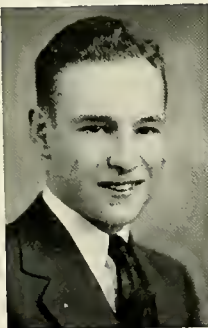

Some of the honors held by members of our class are: Emily Baird, President of D. P. O. Sorority; Belle Doak, President of the S. D. S. Sorority; Ed Smith, President of the S. A. E. Fraternity; Charles Gist, Vice President of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, and Clair Eoff, President of the Y. M. C. A.

The class also placed three members on the staff of the school paper, The Cumberland Collegian.

Looking back upon what we think has been a very successful year we have high hopes of continuing the good work next year as Juniors.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

SOPHOMORE CLASS

THE 1937 PHOENIX

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

In the year of our Lord 1937 a large group of eager and ambitious students fresh from their conquest of high school entered the portals of Cumberland to begin their agonizing and tedious struggle for a better education. Although somewhat bewildered and lost at the first of the school year, it was not long until they had entered the fray of college life and proven themselves worthy of being called loyal sons of this historic institution.

With the distinction of having the largest class in the history of Cumberland, they immediately organized with the election of officers and proceeded into a year of activities which surpassed all of the other classes. After a short period of familiarization they were given their first chance to prove their sterling quality and willingness to cooperate when they were placed at the mercy of the upper classmen. Yet, through the hectic days and throes of Hell Week and the oncoming football season, the Frosh continued to prove that they could "take it" in spite of the trying discomforts that were planned for them.

Game after game they turned out in a body to lend their support to a fighting football team. With nine of their classmates giving their all for their Alma Mater, the Freshmen added their lusty voices to the rising waves of cheers led by the cheering squad.

Among the traveling squad on the trips were Cuttrell, Lovell, Vaughn, H. Johnson, J. Johnson, Hayes, Wagster, Denney, and Locke. Although the team was not the best, nevertheless the Freshmen gained much valuable experience which they expect to profit by in the coming years.

As the cold wintry blast careened around the corners of the administration building, the Cumberland Bulldogs moved from the gridiron into the shelter of the gymnasium to commence basketball practice. After weeks of ardent practice and numerous games, five of the ten men that lettered were Freshmen. During the intramural tournament the Fresh quintet showed that they were not green in basketball by coming out of the fray victorious.

In wrestling and baseball the neophytes were also prominent and turned out to be valuable assets to these teams. Turner, another of their rank, gave them further cause to be proud when he won his division of the Golden Gloves. Stone was the only Frosh to make the tennis team and he added further justification to their record.

Not all of their honors were in the field of athletics. Fite led the scholastic standings with several other of his classmates following close behind.

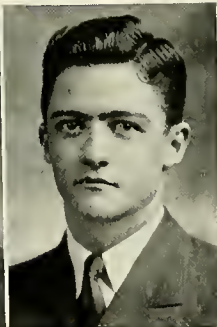

All in all the Freshman class have proven that they are willing and worthy to share the burdens of Cumberland University in the future years.

FRESHMAN CLASS

THE 1937 PHOENIX

FORWARD

"The Moving Finger writes, and having writ
Moves on;

Nor all your Piety nor Wit

Shall lure it back to cancel half a line;

Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

Thus the past has been written. The last chapters in the life-histories of the classes of '37 are closed. It has been a vital and thrilling story of dreams, struggles, joys, disappointments, and finally, climacteric victories. But the past lives on in the real present and the potential future.

The past is prologue, an heraldic announcement of the living present. It speaks in our thoughts and deeds which are the results of what the past has done. Our yesterdays bear fruitage in our dreams and thoughts of our todays. But life today is not lived in prologues. The present must be filled with deeds. The warp and woof of our todays is not made of the "stuff of dreams" alone but of the tough fabric of dynamic living and achieving.

The past is prophecy. The records of the members of these classes indicate that the future will mean a forward march. You have caught the spirit of the refrain:

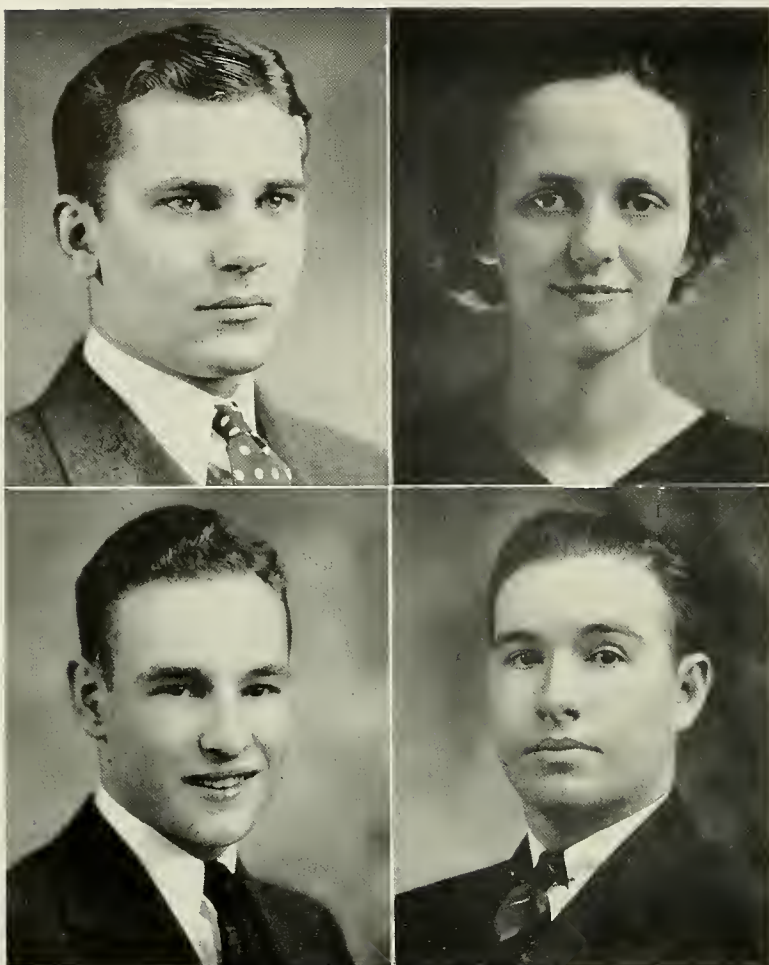

"Forward ever be our watchword,
Conquer and prevail."

Your faces are forward and you have faith in a future with brighter horizons of opportunity and greater achievements. We wish to share your optimism. Always you will have our interest, esteem and cooperation. The world needs your intelligence, your vision, your radiance and your energies. We say: "God speed you on your adventure as you continue to go FORWARD."

BALL

A glance at Cumberland's 1936 grid record of three wins, six losses, and one tie reveals it to be the Red Bulldogs' "leanest" year since the beginning of the modern football era in 1933. Several things in addition to the number of wins and losses, however, need be taken into consideration before the season can be classified as "unsuccessful."

Graduation had claimed the major portion of a great team which, after four years in the making, had risen to its heights to capture the Smoky Mountain Conference Championship in 1935. Coach Gene McIlwain and his assistant, Ned Vaughn, were faced with the herculean task of constructing a winning machine from the remnant of the great team of '35, along with numerous Freshmen and other untried performers. Staring the Bulldogs in the face was one of the most trying schedules a Cumberland team has attempted in recent years.

As a result of his labors Coach McIlwain presented Cumberland fans a light but scrapping team which fought till the very last in every game. The season was not far progressed, however, until Bulldog followers came to the realization that from high school football into the ranks of varsity college performers is quite a jump for an athlete to make in one year.

Undaunted by their lack of experience, the young Bulldogs rode from one place to another during the early and middle parts of the season, taking their defeats with a smile. During these games the McIlwain boys were acquiring their needed experience and learning new tricks of the trade. By the end of the campaign the Bulldog eleven was functioning smoothly as a unit and had developed into one of the most dangerous outfits in the conference.

JOHN BEASLEY
Manager

Many of the same boys will be back next fall to start another season and to make for themselves a better record. Armed with new knowledge of the game plus the same Bulldog tenacity of last season the boys will be much harder to stop in '37. The foundation for a winning team has been laid and Cumberland followers are predicting pleasant results for the near future.

The following comment taken from "Sideline Slants" of the CUMBERLAND COLLEGIAN gives a brief game-by-game summary of the 1936 season.

Cumberland 0, Arkansas Tech 41

The Bulldogs simply tackled stern opposition too early in the season. On Cumberland's first visit to the Razorback country, an unprepared Bulldog eleven received its worst beating in several years from one of Arkansas' best teams.

Cumberland 13, Bethel 0

Led by Jimmy Vaughn, the Bulldogs played good football during the first half to down the pestiferous Corporals from McKenzie, Tennessee—but not by so decisive a margin as had been predicted. Cumberland's passing combination of O'Guinn to Brettell enjoyed one of its best games.

Cumberland 12, Union U. 18

A valiant fourth period which brought two touchdowns for Cumberland, fell short to allow John Pechonick and Company to triumph. Coach Hollingsworth's Union team was one of the smoothest working outfits to show on Kirk Field in several seasons.

Cumberland 32, Newberry 0

For the first time of the season Cumberland's offense clicked to enable the Bulldogs to roll over a comparatively weak Newberry eleven. Jimmy Vaughn and Hoyal Johnson, Freshman backs, were outstanding in the Cumberland backfield. Coach McIlwain's reserves played much of the game.

Cumberland 0, King 22

Fullback Louis Chesna was the difference between the two teams as Cumberland suffered its first conference defeat in two seasons. Cumberland's offense worked little better than did its defense and the King goal was never threatened. Injuries to Cumberland stars added no little bit to the success of the King attack.

Cumberland 0, Carson-Newman 22

History repeated itself as the Bulldogs lost their second consecutive contest by the same score. Frosty Holt's Eagles, who have since won the conference championship, capitalized on Cumberland's mistakes to win. Freshman Jean Denney in the line and Loomis and Brettell in the secondary were best for Cumberland.

Cumberland 6, Marshall 41

The maroon-clad boys pulled the unexpected in West Virginia by crossing the goal line of the "Big Green" of Marshall, one of the grid powers of the on numerous occasions but lacked the final punch to score. The entire Cumberland team played an outstanding game.

Cumberland 6, Appalachian 10

If a team can be glorious in defeat, certainly that can be said concerning Cumberland's play against Appalachian. The Bulldogs outclassed the nation's scoring leaders 5 to 3 in first downs and gained 148 yards as compared to the visitors' 25—yet lost the game. Cumberland grabbed a 6 to 0 lead in the first quarter, but allowed two costly punts to be blocked later in the contest.

Buckeye Conference. Four thousand people saw the Bulldogs overpowered and outclassed by a superior team.

Cumberland 0, Tampa U. 0

As usual, the Cumberland warriors bobbed up in the land of sunshine and flowers with one of their best exhibitions of the season. Playing better ball throughout the game, the Bulldogs drove to within the shadow of the goal

Cumberland 27, Cullowhee 6

A small homecoming crowd saw nine Cumberland Seniors and their playmates run up an easy win on a snow-covered field. Senior Buck Loomis, playing his final game for C.U., and Freshman Dave Wagster, in the Bulldog starting lineup for the first time, were the leading ground gainers. Cumberland reserves saw much service.

HERSCHEL HAMIL
Captain

JOE LOOMIS
Alternate Captain

Captain Herschel Hamil, Guard

Styled the "Texas Typhoon" by sports writers, the Bulldog captain's fighting play and sterling leadership proved an inspiration to other members of the squad throughout the season. Hamil's outstanding game against Union won for him a place on the Nashville Banner's Grid Honor Roll and will long be remembered by Cumberland fans.

Alternate Captain Joe Loomis, Halfback

"Buck's" Thanksgiving Day game against Cullowhee climaxed four years of dependable football. Used mainly as a blocking back on offense, Loomis was a decided asset to the Cumberland backfield quartet. His steady play and cheerful disposition will be missed a plenty next season.

Mike Gialanella, End

Undoubtedly one of the most colorful athletes ever to don a Cumberland uniform, "Big Mike" will be long remembered by followers of Cumberland sports. For the third season Gialanella's play merited his selection on the mythical All-Smoky Mountain Conference team.

Tom Mayberry, Tackle

A transfer from Vanderbilt, where he played Freshman football, Mayberry was a bulwark in the Bulldog line for two seasons. Naturally an aggressive player, Tom was probably the most vicious tackler on the squad. His replacement will be no easy task.

Dave Wagster, Halfback

"Freshman Dave," who hails from Shelbyville, is the railbirds' choice for Cumberland's No. 1 back next season. Wagster starred against Appalachian last November and is a lover of action in large doses.

MIKE GIALANELLA

TOM MAYBERRY

DAVE WAGSTER

Elisha High, Guard

Although weighing but 160 pounds, High was a most troublesome barrier for all opponents coming towards the center of the line. The boy from Carthage was a fast man on offense and an excellent hand at diagnosing enemy plays.

ELISHA HIGH

MOSEBY WILLIAMS

VANCE ORR

Moseby Williams, Halfback

Williams was one of the most accurate passers on the squad. His enthusiasm undimmed by the fact that he was a law student and would be here but one season, "Mose" was an important contributor to the success of the eleven.

Kirk Marsh, Tackle

"The hardest man on the squad to move" is the manner in which many players described this 220 pound stalwart from old Virginia. Marsh was a consistent threat to all enemy ball-toters.

Vance Orr, End and Tackle

Although having performed at tackle for three years, a scarcity of wingman made it necessary for Vance to see considerable service as an end this season. Orr leaves Cumberland with the well wishes of countless friends and will be remembered both as a player and as a gentleman.

Fred Barbour, Center

Winding up a four year athletic career, "Chink" gave good season's account of himself at the pivot position. Barbour backed up the line on defense, and on offense combined headwork with the power of his 200 pound frame to open numerous holes for his back-field mates.

KIRK MARSH

FRED BARBOUR

BOB BRETTCELL

Bob Brettell, Quarterback

Brettell was probably the hardest running back on the team. A conscientious trainer and an untiring worker, this veteran of three seasons' experience will return next fall to aid Cumberland in another drive toward conference supremacy.

CASPER FREEMAN JIMMY JOHNSON ELDRIDGE O'GUINN

Casper Freeman, Guard

Members of the high scoring Appalachian eleven called "Fattenin' Hog" the "hardest charging lineman they had faced all season." A hard worker, knowing not the meaning of an easy tackle, Freeman's presence in the Bulldog line next fall should spell nothing but trouble for opponents.

Jimmy Johnson, Guard

According to Coach Ned Vaughan, Jimmy will pair with Freeman next season to give Cumberland the "best pair of guards in the Smoky Mountain Conference." A veritable powerhouse in the line, Johnson makes use of both strength and speed to be an excellent leader of interference.

Eldridge O'Guinn, Fullback

Accuracy at passing and his usual ability to pick up a few extra yards when needed establish "Bud" as a dangerous threat. A pleasing thought is that this hefty West Tennessean will be around for two more seasons to care for his regular backfield duties.

Joe Hayes, End

Stepping into a regular end berth as a Freshman, Hayes played well throughout the season. Gaining needed experience in the early games, Joe's performance against Tampa and other late foes was far above the average. Hayes should "go to town" next fall.

Allan Gordon, Tackle

"Hoss" seldom failed to be Johnny-on-the-spot when a tackle was to be made on his side of the line, and his ability at covering punts was unsurpassed. A dependable player and a true sport, Gordon gave his best performance of the season against Carson-Newman.

Jean Denney, Center

Denney's smashing play in the final games has caused Coach McIlwain's worries over the center position for next season to cease. A fearless type of player and possessing an abundant supply of pep and enthusiasm, this Freshman may develop into one of Cumberland's greatest centers.

JOE HAYES

JEAN DENNEY

ALLAN GORDON

Hoyal Johnson, Fullback

The idol of local high school fans, Johnson crashed through during his first college season to rate a starting berth on the Maroon varsity. A triple threat of no mean ability, Hoyal was a consistent ground-gainer and a reliable punter.

HOYAL JOHNSON

ERNEST LOVELL

JIMMIE VAUGHN

Ernest Lovell, End

Although handicapped by lack of weight, this freshman more than held his own against adversaries of greater weight and of more experience. Speed and stamina made up for Lovell's small stature and he proved himself a worthy asset to the team.

usually able to come through in a tight place. The young Georgian's ready wit and his powerful pair of shoulders will be missed.

Jimmy Vaughn, Quarterback

Coming to Cumberland after establishing for himself an enviable record at Morgan Prep, Vaughn more than lived up to advance notices of his grid prowess by directing the team in an admirable fashion. An even brighter future is seen for this 145 pound "Mighty Mite" who runs, kicks, and passes with equal skill.

Ethel Cuttrell, Guard

Although "Noisey" played steady ball as a reserve guard last season, present plans are to shift him to the backfield next year. This 190 pounder from Hartsville should be able to rack up more than a few yards for the Bulldogs.

Bobby Mangum, Halfback

Having determination to the nth degree, "Red" knows no type of play but to fight his hardest at all times. With a stout body and three years of valuable experience, Mangum is well equipped to end up his college career in a blaze of glory next season.

BASKETBALL REVIEW

Although winning but nine out of fourteen games, Cumberland's cage clan of '37 furnished followers of the Bulldog institution the best brand of basketball seen here in several seasons. Most of the games lost were closely contested affairs and were featured by the fast moving action that adds so much to cage fans' delight.

As in football Coach McIlwain had few veterans returning from the previous season and was forced to entrust a major portion of first string duties to first year men. The team's record shows the Bulldogs playing interesting ball to win their first three games in good style. Following, however, came a victory famine which saw a losing streak grow from three to four to five games, and so on until eight consecutive setbacks had been experienced. The Bulldogs then suddenly snapped back to life and, showing a return to early season form, captured two verdicts out of the final trio of contests. The only loss of the final three games was to Freed-Hardeman, generally considered the outstanding small college quintet in Tennessee.

The Bulldogs' collective score for the season reveals that the Cumberland tossers amassed a total of 443 points, or an average of 31.6 points per game. Opponents' scores total 513 for a game average of 36.6 points.

Individual scoring honors for the season went to "Bud" Riley, flashy little forward who garnered a total of 98 points for an average of seven points per contest. Following Riley in the scoring parade were Ed Smith and "Chink" Barbour, who collected respective totals of 89 and 69 points. Other Bulldogs figured in the scoring in the following order: Locke 54, Jordon 41, Vaughn 35, Hayes 30, Robb 14, Foster 5, Freeman 5, Bratton 2, and Mathis 2.

Cumberland cage enthusiasts are erasing all grief stimulated by this season's losses by looking ahead to a banner season in '38. With eight lettermen slated to return and with bright prospects for a new gymnasium in which to play, interest is at a high pitch. A return to conference competition in the cage sport is not an impossibility.

SUMMARY

As the "Phoenix" went to press, Coach McIlwain's diamonders had performed in ten tilts and were playing .500 ball. Approximately a twenty-five game schedule was to be completed with additional contests having been carded with Lambeth, T. P. I., Vanderbilt, Austin Peay Normal, Murfreesboro Normal, West Kentucky, Bethel, and Du Pont.

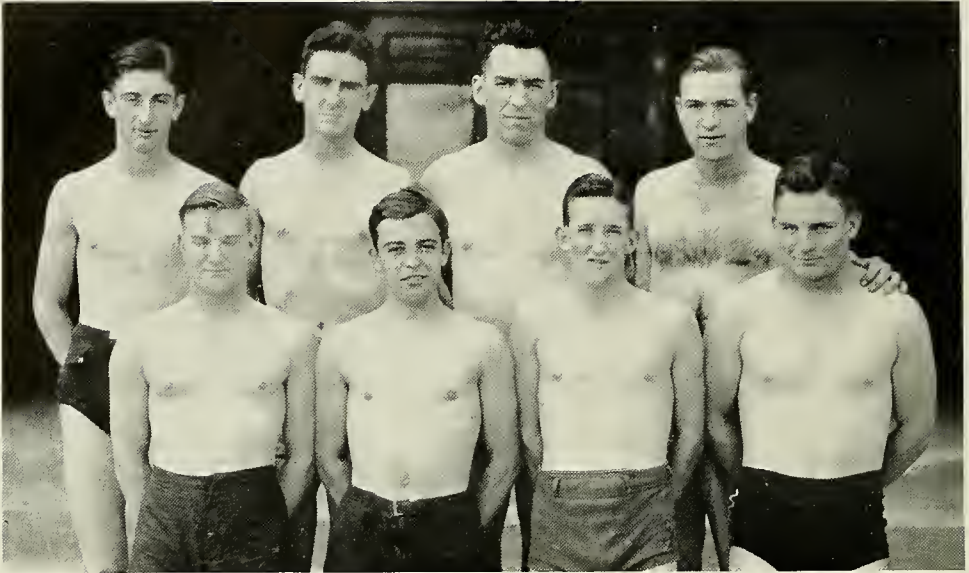

The Bulldogs' optimism over prospects for an outstanding season was dealt a severe jolt early in the season when Kirby Jordon, stellar center-fielder, broke his leg in the second game against Austin Peay. A fast fielder and a most dependable man at bat, Jordon has been greatly missed since his unfortunate retirement from action.

Although hitting a mid-season "snag" in the form of two successive setbacks the Cumberland batsmen have shown their capability of playing good baseball and are being favored to capture a majority of their remaining games.

BASKETBALL

The Freshman Boys, presenting a smooth-working team of former high school stars, were winners in the annual intra-mural cage tournament held in the University Gym. Clearly the class of the tournament, the Frosh swept aside the Junior Lawyers, the Lambda Chi's, and the S A E's, in their march towards the title. The Commuter Girls were victorious 19 to 16 over the Dormitory Lassies in the annual co-ed classic of the season.

Intra-Mural Ping-Pong Champions

PING-PONG

Presented on Cumberland's intra-mural program for the first time in several years, ping-pong proved one of the school's most popular means of recreation. A regulation size table, placed in the Memorial Room through the efforts of Ned Vaughan, was the center of much attention as numerous players participated in the games before and after meals and during other moments of spare time.

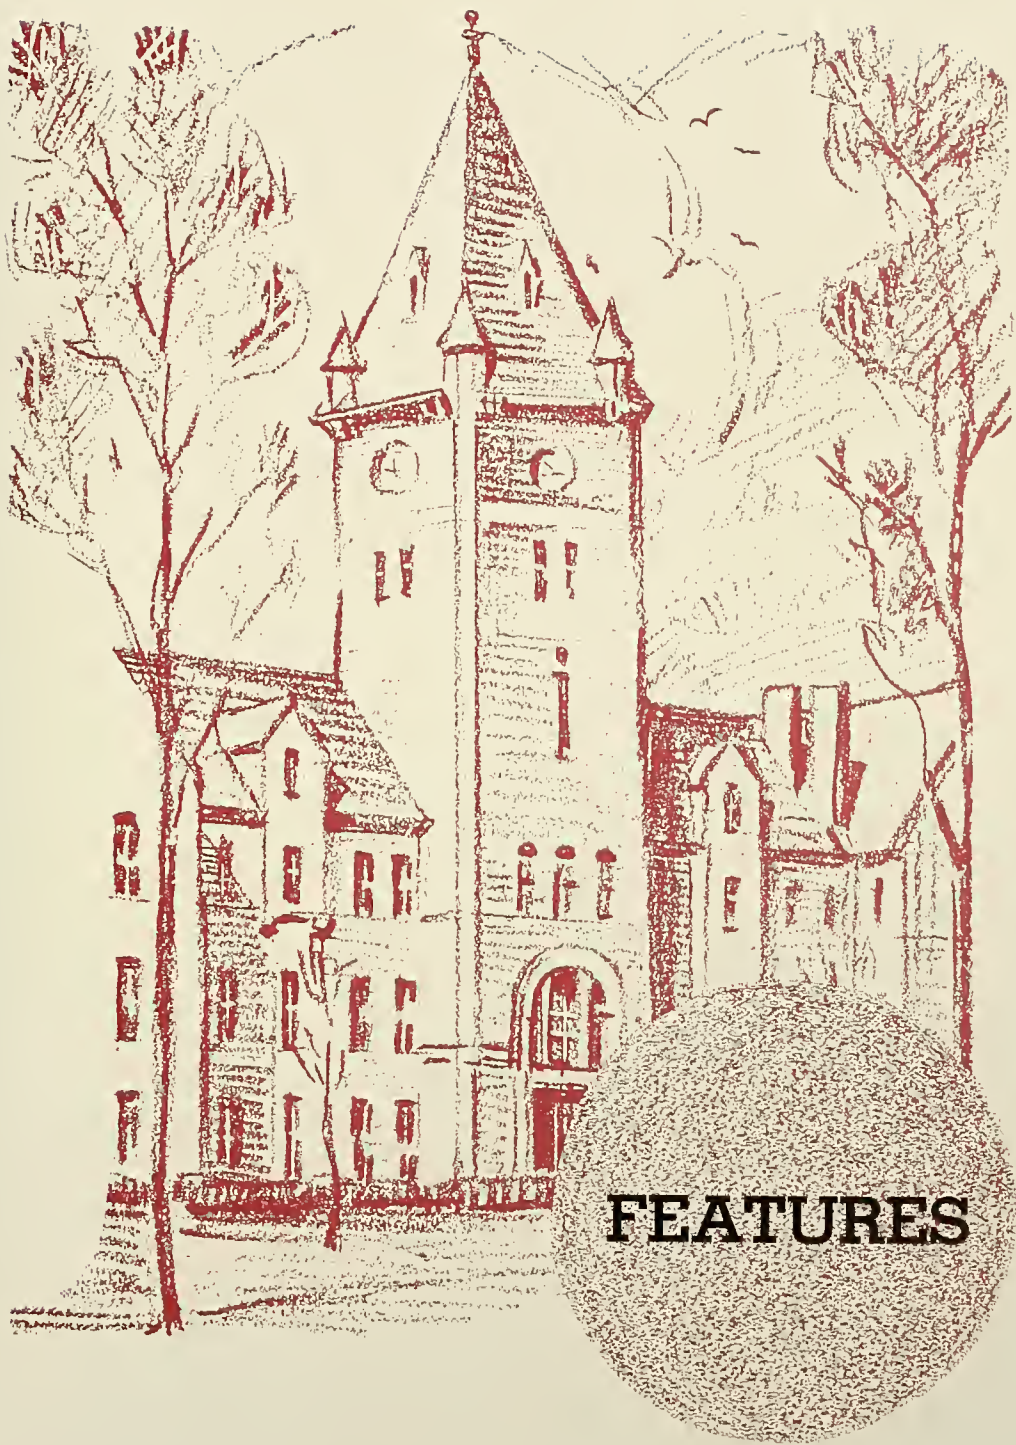

Tournaments for both boys and girls climaxed the year's play. "Pete" Byrom, a Sophomore and a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, was the winner in the boys' division, while "Dot" Orr, popular McClain House freshman, copped top honors among the ladies.

BOXING

Outstanding pupil produced by Julian Warren and his class of "Battling Barristers" was Jim "Tomcat" Turner, plucky young freshman welterweight who enjoyed unusual success during his initial season in fistic competition. Although never having donned the gloves before coming to Cumberland, Turner fought his way to the championship of the 147 pound Novice Division in the Tennessean Papers Golden Gloves Tournament, winning four of his five contests by knockouts. Later in the year, Turner fought with the regular Tennessean team in the Southeastern A.A.U. meet at Memphis and won one encounter there before being eliminated by a more experienced fighter. Cumberland fans will follow Turner's progress with much interest as he plans to again enter Golden Gloves competition next year.
